SCHOOL GROUP BEHAVIOR AND PARTICIPATION EXPECTATIONS

Please review with your students and chaperones before your JBS Wetland Center visit.

- JBS Wetland Center Programs are field studies, not field trips. Please ensure that students are aware that they will be involved in a science class and will be expected to conduct themselves accordingly.
 - Discipline is the responsibility of the students, teachers and/or chaperones.
- Students that cannot be controlled will be asked to wait in the visitor's center with a chaperone.
- JBS Wetland Center educators / naturalists are professionals in the environmental education field with much to offer your students. They are expected to treat all visitors with consideration and respect. In return, students, teachers, and chaperones are expected to treat our educators / naturalists with consideration and respect.
 - Teachers and chaperones are expected to be active participants in the JBS Wetland Center program. We make every effort to have small group sizes in our field classes, however, sometimes groups are larger than preferred and it is very important that teachers and chaperones help facilitate programs and maintain group control.
 - Please respect the wildlife, natural surroundings, nature center, and fellow students. Voices should be kept low when around the wildlife, on the boardwalk or other areas where wildlife is present.
 - Please do not sit on boardwalk rails, enter the wetland without permission or touch wildlife.
 - Please do not pick or damage any plants.

I have read the JBS Wetland Center Teacher and Chaperone Information for field studies and have reviewed with my group the above behavior and participation guidelines. I understand and agree to the JBS Wetland Center's expectations and billing policies.
